Architect Presents Cost Study

The Coffee County Commission held a special meeting on Thursday, April 2, at the courthouse in Enterprise, and a large crowd was on hand to listen as architect Renis Jones presented a detailed report on the costs of several renovation and construction plans.

Jones, president of the architectural firm of Pearson, Humphries, Jones and Associates, of Montgomery, told the commission, "I will be brief. I have compiled a book for all the commissioners, which will explain in detail the figures used in my visual presentation. Back on February 9 you asked me to give cost estimates on seven proposals and that is what I have for you this morning."

Following are the cost estimates of the seven proposals:

1. To completely renovate both courthouses (Elba and Enterprise), and to add to the Enterprise courthouse a jail containing four cells. Additional space to meet present needs plus reasonable growth potential. New four-prisoner jail to meet court standards.

At the Elba courthouse, renovation of the existing building would cost $735,000, additional operating space needed would cost $477,750, and additional space needed due to space loss in bringing existing building up to current standards would cost $238,875. Total construction cost for the Elba courthouse would total $1,451,625. The Elba courthouse now contains 14,700 square feet, while the additions listed above total 11,025 square feet, which means the building would almost double in size.

At the Enterprise courthouse, the renovation of the existing building would cost $588,750, the additional space needed would cost $616,330, the additional space needed due to space loss in bringing the existing building up to current standards would cost $261,885, and the addition of a four-prisoner jail would cost $431,370. The total construction cost at the Enterprise courthouse would be $1,886,335, bringing the total construction cost of proposal 1 to $3,349,960.

Looking back at the Enterprise courthouse, the additions listed above would bring its square feet total to 30,079, almost tripling the building's current size.

2. To renovate the jail in Elba and then determine the capacity meeting the court-approved standards.

The architect reported the prisoner capacity would be only 8, and listed a total construction cost of $499,200. The renovation of the existing building would cost $208,000, while additional new space required would cost $291,200. The new space would more than double the size of the jail, adding 2,912 square feet to the 2,600 square-foot structure. However, while the jail currently houses 40 prisoners, the new facility would have a capacity of 8 prisoners. The decline would meet all standards, both state and federal, and all prisoners would be housed in the second jail.

3. Construct a new 40-prisoner jail in Elba to meet the court standards.

According to figures presented, a new 40-prisoner jail would cost $1,999,200. This figure did not include cost of site or site development. The 40-prisoner structure would include 19,992 square feet.

4. Renovate the existing jail in Elba and add an addition so as to bring the total capacity to a 40-prisoner jail meeting the court standards.

The renovation of the existing building would cost $208,000, while the additional operations space needed would cost $1,739,200. Total construction cost would be $1,947,200, not including the cost of the site or site development. The addition would be a 17,392-square-foot building, making the complete facility total 19,992 square feet.

5. Construct a 40-prisoner jail in Enterprise to meet the court standards.

A new 40-prisoner jail for Enterprise would be a 19,992-square-foot facility and would cost $1,999,200. Again, this figure did not include site cost or site development.

6. The cost of a new courthouse in Enterprise with four cells. New courthouse to house only those functions in present courthouse, with a reasonable growth potential. New four-prisoner jail to meet court standards.

A new 25,000-square-foot courthouse would cost $1,625,000, while a new four-prisoner jail would cost $431,700. The total construction cost, which would be on a 29,793-square-foot structure, would then be $2,056,700. The site cost or site development wasn't included.

7. The cost of construction of a new courthouse and 40-prisoner jail on a new undetermined site.

The new courthouse would be a 35,596-square-foot structure, and would cost $2,443,740. A new 40-prisoner jail, which would be a 19,992-square-foot facility, would cost $1,999,200. The total construction cost of the project would be $4,442,940. (Again, site cost or site development was not included.)

"We have investigated all the options," said Mr. Jones, "and our activities have included measuring the three existing buildings, conducting structural inspections of the three buildings, investigating the jail in Elba and making projections of all the needs of the officials. The firm of Dean, Dale and Dean, of Jackson, Mississippi, an expert in jail design, did the study at the county jail. I believe this booklet is a realistic answer to your question, and the cost estimates are based on facts."

When quizzed about the current site selected for a jail in Enterprise (behind the courthouse), Jones answered, "A 40-prisoner jail could be placed on the site. There is room for both a new jail and adequate parking behind the Enterprise courthouse. I feel there is enough space to adequately house a new jail."

A visitor to the meeting asked how much land was needed to build a new jail and courthouse, and Jones replied, "At least 10 acres."

County Attorney Warren Rowe then reminded the commission, "Under the law you are restricted on where you can build a jail. It must be built within the 1963 city limits, and I don't know if you can find 10 acres in that limited area."

One spectator took a verbal shot at the commission and drew a heated response, but the meeting ended with a feeling of unity when a gentleman in the audience stated, "The citizens of Coffee County want the most for their money, and the citizens will support the commission 100 percent if they do this."

Commissioner Rex Boutwell seconded the motion, and the vote was again deadlocked at 3-3. This time, voting in favor of the motion were Boutwell, Martin and Grant, while voting no were Eagerton, Bradley and Bowden. Judge Sawyer again voted to break the tie, and again voted "no" to kill the motion.

"We're back to square one," declared Attorney Rowe, "and time is running out." A commissioner asked Sheriff Brice Paul for a recommendation and he said, "I wouldn't touch it with a 10-foot pole!"

Commissioner Eagerton took the floor again, and reported he would like to make another motion. "I make a motion we go to New Brockton and make the farm center into a 40-prisoner jail," said Eagerton, "and this way we already own, I move we pay for the construction with a 1-cent sales tax, and ask Judge Gamble for declaratory judgment on the legality of the tax."

It was later agreed that the new tax would not be collected until it clears all appeals, which, Rowe stated, "are sure to come."

When asked by a commissioner if the people would vote on the sales tax, Rowe stated, "The people elected 7 men to represent them. The law gives you the authority - you are voting for them!" Rowe warned that the new jail must meet federal standards, and that if New Brockton didn't have adequate sewage, it would be the county's responsibility to install it.

Commissioner Grant seconded the motion, and it passed by a vote of 4-2. Voting in favor were Eagerton, Grant,

Financed By New Sales Tax

New Brockton Selected As Jail Site

The Coffee County Commission met on Tuesday morning, April 7, and voted 4-2 to pass a motion introduced by Commissioner Billy Eagerton to renovate the farm center building in New Brockton and put on a 1-cent sales tax to finance the construction.

Eagerton's motion was actually the fourth motion of the day to be voted on, and was the second to be introduced by Eagerton. The initial motion was offered by Commissioner Marvin Bowden, and in it he proposed building a 40-prisoner jail on a site in the northern part of Enterprise, and the passing of a 1-cent sales tax to finance the construction.

Commissioner Eugene Bradley seconded the motion, but it was defeated by a vote of 4-2. Bowden and Bradley voted in favor of the motion, while Martin, Boutwell, Grant and Eagerton voted against it. Probate Judge James L. Sawyer, the chairman of the commission, stated, "Let the record show the chairman was in favor of the resolution," an effort to make it clear to the courts he was in favor of meeting a current court order to build a jail in Enterprise.

Commissioner Billy Eagerton was next to speak, and said, "After reading the law, I believe we can go to New Brockton and build a jail, since it is in the Enterprise Division of Coffee County. I make a motion we convert the Farm Center into a jail and pass a 1-cent sales tax to finance the project. Also, that we ask Judge Arthur Gamble to make declaratory judgment on the legality of using the tax for this purpose."

After Commissioner Gilmer Grant seconded the motion, County Attorney Warren Rowe stated, "The jail comes under a different law than does the courthouse. As long as the jail is in the Enterprise Division it would meet the court order."

Commissioner Charlie Mack Martin spoke up and stated, "I have here a letter from Attorney General Charles Graddick that says we do not have the authority to pass a 1-cent sales tax for this purpose. I would like to vote for the site, but not with the financing. I would like to comply with the court order, however, not this way."

Commissioner Bradley asked Rowe, "Since we (Bradley and Bowden) voted to comply with the court order and build a jail in Enterprise, does it get us off the hook?"

"You voted with the order once," answered Rowe, "but I don't know. You have to remember, the issue here is the court order to build a jail. There are going to be two courthouses in the county until the people vote to change. Several attempts have been made to have one courthouse, but they have all failed. Whether you like it or not - the two courthouses are here to stay!"

When a vote was taken on Eagerton's motion, it was deadlocked at 3-3, with Boutwell, Eagerton, and Grant voting in favor of the motion, and Martin, Bowden and Bradley voting against it. Judge Sawyer, who as chairman breaks all ties, voted "no", killing the motion.

Commissioner Charlie Mack Martin was next to speak, and said, "Let me take a shot at it. I make a motion that we take the farm center in New Brockton and renovate it for a jail, renovate the courthouse in Enterprise. Also, that we ask our senator and representatives to introduce legislation that would give us power to pass a sales tax to finance the project, and that the tax would come off when the buildings are paid for."

Commissioner Rex Boutwell seconded the motion, and the vote was again deadlocked at 3-3. This time, voting in favor of the motion were Boutwell, Martin and Grant, while voting no were Eagerton, Bradley and Bowden. Judge Sawyer again voted to break the tie, and again voted "no" to kill the motion.

"We're back to square one," declared Attorney Rowe, "and time is running out." A commissioner asked Sheriff Brice Paul for a recommendation and he said, "I wouldn't touch it with a 10-foot pole!"

Commissioner Eagerton took the floor again, and reported he would like to make another motion. "I make a motion we go to New Brockton and make the farm center into a 40-prisoner jail," said Eagerton, "and this way we already own, I move we pay for the construction with a 1-cent sales tax, and ask Judge Gamble for declaratory

It was later agreed that the new tax would not be collected until it clears all appeals, which, Rowe stated, "are sure to come."

When asked by a commissioner if the people would vote on the sales tax, Rowe stated, "The people elected 7 men to represent them. The law gives you the authority - you are voting for them!" Rowe warned that the new jail must meet federal standards, and that if New Brockton didn't have adequate sewage, it would be the county's responsibility to install it.

Commissioner Grant seconded the motion, and it passed by a vote of 4-2. Voting in favor were Eagerton, Grant, Boutwell and Bradley, while Martin and Bowden both voted no.

"After the judge rules, I am sure there will be appeals," said Rowe. "A lot of people don't think the tax can be used for this purpose, and I'm sure some will question putting the jail in New Brockton. The judgment will be appealed, either way."

In other action at Tuesday's meeting, the commission:

***authorized Steve Eagerton to attend a property appraisal course in Selma on April 20-21; and ***agreed to provide additional funds for the tax collector to mail out delinquent tax notices. The increased postal rates prompted the request.

Elba Council Wants Money

Back On Street Sweeper

The Elba City Council met Monday night for the first meeting of April, with all present except Councilman Cleo Hawkins, who reportedly was sick.

The council formally adopted a resolution moving all city court cases to district court; opened bids on a riding lawnmower; passed a proposal to lease out a swimming pool; and heard reports from police chief, city engineer and sewer survey engineer before paying bills of $17,232 for the past month.

City engineer Jim Williams reported to the council that action is being taken to return the recently purchased street sweeper to the selling firm. He said the sweeper doesn't do the expected job and doesn't do the job promised in advertising or bid specifications.

Williams also reported that the federally funded CETA program would stop on April 17 and after that, the city departments would be hurting for labor. He said some would have to be retained with other funds, others would be released and their jobs done by others. Williams said services would be cut some but hopefully not much.

Mayor Bob English said, "The government changed the rules of the game in the middle of the stream and left this council holding the bag."

Councilman David Stokes suggested that the street sweeper money ($30,000) could possibly be used to pay help rather than buying another machine. He said the much-needed machine was beginning to look like a luxury now and maybe should be postponed for six months.

Councilman Charles Kennett said, "We need to tighten our belts because there are only 100 cents in a dollar, and when we exceed the budget, we are skating on thin ice."

No decision was made on solving the problem of the lost workers, but English promised a decision would be made in the near future. Council members left the final decision to English as an administrative duty.

Councilman John W. Sharpless asked for an update on administering the new dog leash law. He was told that parts of three trucks had been used to make a dog catcher truck, and things were moving forward. English said he had the most calls on April 1, and the calls were from citizens who were surprised the law was actually being enforced.

Police Chief Ray Norris reported that the most problems had come from people who had chained their dog only to have it attacked by dogs still roaming loose. He said it would take time, but these problems would be solved. Norris said the dog catcher had picked up 63 dogs from April 1 until April 6.

Bids on purchasing a new lawnmower were opened. Specifications called for a riding lawnmower with at least a 12 hp motor. Elba Tractor Company bid on this at $2184.12, and was low bidder. Town and Country Tire and Saw bid $2775 on a 16 hp mower. The council voted to allow the mayor and recreation director look at the mowers and buy the one that would do the necessary job.

The council officially adopted a resolution to abolish municipal court and place all city cases in district court. The motion was made by Councilman Sonny Inman and was unanimous except for Stokes who abstained due to family connections with the municipal court.

G. Reynolds Watkins representative Howard Baker reported to the council on the "201 sewer survey" and told of some problems in the area near the sewer lagoon. Water is getting into the system from rain runoff, etc., and this is causing a strain on the lagoons. It will be necessary to build additional lagoon capacity or stop the inflow, said Baker. He gave cost figures on several alternates. His recommended alternate would cost about $570,000, but would be the cheapest in the long run, according to Baker. It is also possible to get a federal grant for 75 percent of this cost when federal funds are available.

The council heard Recreation Director Dennis Smith report on the proposed leasing of the river swimming pool to Roland Powell. He said the proposal would cost the city less than the hiring of life guards and maintaining the pool. The council approved the leasing of the pool to Powell if fees would stay the same as in past years at 50 cents for children and 75 cents for those out of high school. Powell had originally asked to increase to 75 cents and $1.00.

Councilman Stokes had been asked to study the trash pickup system and recommend any changes. He told the council he recommended it stay the way it is. Any changing would "open a can of worms" he said. Stokes pointed out that the present system allows for charging on excessive trash pickups.

The council approved monthly bills totaling $17,232 and included between $7,000 and $8,000 for the new dog pound; $5,000 for gasoline; and $1,100 of materials for sewer extension to Cliff Allen's house.

McKinney had served as tax assessor for more than three years. He was also the former operator of the Rawls Hotel in Enterprise.

POOR ORIGINAL

Brainstorms

With Fern Cox

It shook us up a bit Sunday when we heard that Roger Davis had drowned at Lake Eufaula. Roger was a former game warden in Coffee County, and we have been on the water with him on more than one occasion. He was always very cautious, and was one of the last people we would have thought this would happen to under normal circumstances. He was alone, so we will probably never know exactly what happened.

Secretary of State Alexander Haig continues to come under fire from those who don't like his military type thinking and frequent use of military phrases. When he talked about the shooting of the president and used "round" instead of "bullet," we anticipated trouble; and also when he said in a very military manner of the ranking man present bring in charge, "I am in charge here (at White House - Situation Room) and in contact with the vice-president." To us these two statements were not out of line. We can talk of a bullet as a "round," "shell," "bullet," or a "horse shoe" as long as we are talking with understanding what we mean. We personally want someone in government who can turn down the heat or lights without having requests and instructions issued in triplicate. In short - good job, General!

We still don't understand how gun control laws will prevent nuts from trying to kill the president. Present laws make it against the law to kill anyone, and that ain't stopped some folks from breaking the law. We quote the oft-repeated saying that "gun control laws will only take guns from law-abiding citizens."

Heddy and I have a five-year-old son (not grandson, as some of my school classmates have, and some of my friends think, when they see my specs of gray hair). We enjoy his doings as we do and did those of the two older children. Last week he filled conversation with his doings. Monday night it was his time to bless our meal on one of those rare occasions when the family is all eating at the same time. Well, Eric asked if he could say a different blessing from his usual memorized prayer. Of course we said yes, and he prayed "God take care of President Reagan... and Jesus, you do, too." He quickly looked at me for reassurance that was okay, and I told him that was just right, and we were glad he thought of doing it. Then Friday at Noon he decided the situation was just right for him to walk from Kindergarten. After hooding it past the car wash and Williams Texaco, he began to get a little hot and tired, but he kept coming. When friends came to the office and told us they thought they saw our Eric walking to town, we went and caught up with him at the intersection across from the old Gunter-Dunn building. He said when he started getting tired he thought surely some of his friends would stop and pick him up, "cause his name was on the back of his shirt. He even named a couple who passed and disappointed him by not stopping. However, I don't think he will be walking to town again in the near future... if he does, there ain't enough nerve pills in the world for his kindergarten teachers.

Last week we received a hand-delivered news release from Humana (which operates Coffee General Hospital). It noted the president of the firm had met and talked with Representative Jimmy Holley and Senator Wallace Miller about all the claims of overcharging, etc., at the Enterprise facility. The release said efforts were being made to improve my errors in billing, and also to improve the communication between staff and patients. We again say that even though there are apparently problems somewhere, we can only report satisfaction with our one and only personal experience with Coffee General. We got an itemized bill upon request... maybe because we refused to pay without one; but nevertheless we got it with a smile.

Governor James has formally hit the snag in his plan to unarm state tax funds. The proposal was to allow the people to vote on the matter, and was killed in the Senate. We realize those folks were elected to serve us, but putting ourselves in their place, it would be awful hard to vote against anything that put the final decision in the hands of the voting public, especially when that vote would prevent the public from having a say in the matter. Unarmarking has its good and bad points, but somewhere in there is a compromise that could benefit all the people of Alabama... if we choose to take it.

CHANGING HANDS—Mary Whitman (right) turns over the keys to Mary's Style Shoppe to the store's new owners, Nelda Coleman and Myrna Rhoades, in exchange for a check to close the store.

Owner retires, shop under new ownership

By CYNDI MADDOX

The ownership of one of Elba's most successful businesses officially changed hands Monday.

After 18 years of operating Mary's Style Shoppe, Mary Whitman has turned the front door keys over to new owners, Myrna Rhoades and Nelda Coleman. During the years, Mary's has become a landmark fashion store for women in the Elba area.

Many of the shop's regular customers drove in from New Brockton, Enterprise, and other neighboring cities.

While the sale of the business was being handled, Whitman and her husband, Basil, they are as busy as ever assisting the new owners with the transition.

Your recent actions on behalf of the New Brockton High School AA State Basketball champions are appreciated far beyond our ability to acknowledge them.

At a time when the darker side of human nature is exploited in every newscast, it is gratifying to know that in people such as you is demonstrated the finest which mankind hopes to attain. ## Persons

Mr. and Mrs. Jim McKnight and young daughter, Natalie, recently spent a week with Mrs. McKnight's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Wilson, of the Zion Chapel Community. This was little Miss Natalie's first visit to her grandparents, and created excitement throughout the community.

Among those who came to meet the young lady were Mr. and Mrs. Steve Brown of Pensacola, Florida, and Mr. and Mrs. Grady Gibson and Melissa Wilson of Montgomery.

Miss Mercer Brunson entered Flowers Hospital last Tuesday for a cataract operation, to be followed by an intra-ocular lens implant. On the following day the surgery was performed by Dr. Marix E. Heersink, and Mercer is now home recuperating.

Mrs. Hayden Prior, formerly Hazel Brunson of Atlanta, and Ralph L. Brunson, of Nashville, were in Elba and Dothan to be with Mercer during and following the operation. Hazel has returned to Atlanta, and Ralph will spend most of the month of April in Mercer's home on Putnam Street.

Ralph retired at the end of the year after 45 years with the YMCA, the last sixteen as general executive of the Nashville YMCA. Just prior to his coming to Elba, he, as chairman of a steering committee, participated in the selection of the outstanding Nashvillean for 1980.

He is presently employed at Edge Memorial Hospital. The wedding will take place at 6:30 p.m. on May 23, at Bush Memorial Church. All friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend the wedding and the reception to follow at the home of the bride's parents at 101 Norfolk Avenue in Troy.

The public is invited. Cost for non-members is $1.00.

Hair dressing and design were her main interests, so it was her chosen profession; then she was off to attend Selma's Technical College for her training and certification. It took only one visit to this noted stylist, from Ricky, who was employed in Selma, to establish that certain reason to continue visits to the school, always asking for that certain qualified operator.

Both Ricky and Wayne are sports enthusiasts. For real enjoyable participation, there's nothing more entertaining than ice skating and skiing. From the expressions of sharing, I'm convinced they have the skill, the ability and proficiency in these arts. The Haywoods are residing on County Road 125 near Whitewater Church. I've learned they are contemplating supporting Whitewater, which is under the capable and dedicated leadership of my special friend, David Richbough. The members and community as a whole are extending a warm Christian welcome to the Haywoods to come their way, and be a part of their community activities.

***Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Belcer of Sunset Blvd. were Saturday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hardy near Bonifay, Florida. Mr. Belcer decided it was time to begin exercising his muscles after a prolonged winter of rest from fishing.

He soon fell right in the groove, casting into s.m.e favorite locations on the mantilla, and the headpiece was accented with mother-of-pearl. She carried a cascade bouquet of white and blue rosebuds interspersed with baby's breath and blue ribbon.

Sherry Waldon, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a baby blue chiffon gown, and her bouquet consisted of white silk roses with a blue rose in the middle and blue ribbon.

Ricky Grant, the groom's brother, served as best man. The reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church following the ceremony.

The couple will reside in Elba.

***Even the drive to Huntsville is always enjoyed by Erlene Poole. On many of her favorite trips north, and sometimes south, comes a neighborhood visit with the Auchmutys in Birmingham.

Once in Huntsville the granddaughter, Scarlett Poole, runs the show. Even at her youthful age, Scarlett includes on the week's itinerary something special. In a growing metropolitan city like Huntsville, activities are plentiful and always rewarding.

It's most interesting to hear Erlene describe her experience and appreciation of her visits with Billy, Joyce and Scarlett to their church. The larger sanctuary is usually filled to capacity. At the designated time in the back of the church, and the 12 members of the choir enter, being led usually by two trumpeters up the center aisle. The auditorium singing "Onward Christian Soldiers". They continue to sing until all choir members are ready to be seated in the choir loft. Erlene said there were no words to describe the special musical numbers by this noted choir.

Dr. Jimmy Jackson's contribution to the devotion was to be most meaningful and heart-stirring. After the invitation there are no verbal prayers, but everyone in the church forms a live chain by holding hands and prayerfully singing together all verses of "Bless Be the Tie." That is the procedure of worship each Sunday at Whitesburg Baptist Church in Huntsville.

***A visit to the Magic City is always enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Ted Prescott. This time they were the guests of Harold and Betty Walker. Harold is on the job all the way. He has a very responsible position with the Internal Revenue Service. Betty very efficiently helps keep the beloved Social Security processing. Betty's mother, Mrs. Joseph Roberts, returned to Elba with Ted and Ruby after a prolonged visit with the Walkers.

***Anniversaries happen daily. However, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Abercrombie of North Troy Highway, turned their 20th anniversary into an enjoyable trip to south Florida. Now, getting away from it all for a breather, something special. Just to change the daily routine and scenery was most rewarding for the Abercrombies!

Fashions blossom with rainbow pastels

STARLA WHITEHEAD sports a neat white twill trouser skirt and a navy, red and yellow polo shirt topped off by a navy linen blazer, accented with brass buttons. In one of the season's most popular ensembles, STEPHANIE SMITH steps out in plaid madras walking shorts, a Kelly green cotton bowling shirt, with a yellow Orion sweater draped over the shoulders for effect. She is also wearing yellow anklets and navy Toppersiders. BEVERLY BOUTWELL chooses an unlined blazer and pleated trouser slacks of white twill for her spring favoring. The white is brought to life by a scooped-neck knit pullover with Kelly green, hot pink and navy stripes.

Spring is in full bloom with the sweet smells and picturesque shades of azaleas, honeysuckles, lilies, and dogwoods. Not only are these blooming in flower gardens, but are also the inspirations for this year's Spring fashion scene.

Hot pinks, neon yellows, and firetruck reds dominated last spring's wardrobe. But the bright and bold have moved over to make room for soft and subtle pastels for the '81 look. Racks of spring clothing in pale shades of peach, blue, lavender, pink, yellow, and green seem out-of-place enclosed within four walls of a store. A wide-open green grassy meadow seems to be a more appropriate setting.

In addition to pastels, spring blossoms include soft pinks and neutrals. Coral and dusty lavender looks to be a favorite with peach, turquoise, jade, teal, cobalt blue, geranium red, cocoa brown, banana, khaki, mother-of-pearl gray, and rosy beige are among those shades which feature delicate embroidery and floral prints predictably leading the way. Day lilies are splashed on blouses; carnations and honeysuckles are scattered over the bodice and skirts of this spring's cool dresses; and tiny embroidered roses accent lace collars. Whether soft and romantic or flat and exotic, floral prints are the decorative feature of spring fashions.

To add dimension to the female's clothes collection, ethnic prints are also in vogue with African motifs, jungle print dresses topped with bright linen jackets, and tropical scenes embroidered on cotton shirts.

Probably the most popular look this spring will follow the same path as its fall counterpart -- the "preppy look". From pre-tens to college coeds to young careerists, everyone is sporting khakis and plaids, web belts and lion's head buckles, oxford cloth button-downs and loaf shirts, topped off with topsiders and "crawling sweaters".

Also a part of the preppy scene are walking or Bermuda shorts which extend almost to the knee. Plaid cotton fabrics are popular for shorts, highlighted with matching solid color polo shirts. With these tailored shorts, the fashion-minded female is wearing neat ankle socks. For a more dressy look, linen blazers and loosely weaved sweaters are added to the shorts.

ANOTHER CASUAL and cool fabric for spring is seersucker. Not only is seersucker following traditional pink and blue stripes, but this year it veers off in multi-color plaids for blazers worn with linen skirts and pants. Other popular fabrics are pure silks, chiffon wools, cotton knits, silk organza, and lace.

This spring women are offered a freedom of choice with the tailored linen blazers and skirts to soft silk dresses that have inched their way up to just below-the-knee.

The broad padded shoulders have evolved into full sleeves -- often with slashed sections, puffs, or abstract shaping.

While skirts are generally revealing shorter hemlines, that is where the similarity stops. The shapes range from skinny to bouffant and fabrics from cotton to chiffon wool. Pants are all lengths -- safari shorts, bermudas, huccaneer pants, cuffed walking shorts, clam diggers, balloon pants, culottes worn with opaque hose, and the classic straight slacks which often feature pleats and tucks.

TOPS ALSO PLAY a starring role in the fashion review, from blouses and rounded tunics to sun button downs and collared pul-overs with button plackets. No outfit is complete without the proper accessories -- solid and striped web belts; narrow leather and vinyl straps with interchangeable buckles; pins of every size, shape, and color; barrettes and hair ornaments featuring cartoon characters, strawberries, tropical birds, and feathers; pastel purses and shoes to match. For the first time in several years, pink, sky blue, and lavender are peeking out from under matching pastel pants.

Fashion moved West last year with the Urban Cowboy look and this spring there continues to be a bit of the Old West lingering in the fashion industry. Jeans are still in the hands of the designers with Calvin Klein, Jordache, Sasson, and Gloria Vanderbilt leading the way. The lower price tags on Levi and Wrangler labels keep them in the top ranks of the popularity contest. With labels an absolute must for everyone's bottoms, even Willie Nelson and old J.R. are cashing in on the bonanza.

To be a "real cowgirl", there must be an authentic hat on the head and boots on the feet. This spring's hat line-up does not limit headwear to the basic natural colored straw models. It offers a variety of colors including red and yellow to complement the jeans and soft plaid shirts.

Also complementing the feet are bi-colored spectator pumps, espadilles in an array of colors, suede oxfords, suave slingbacks, delicate sandals with slightly lower heels.

EHS Library Council Meets

On Thursday, March 26, 1981, the EHS Library Council met with 16 members in attendance. President of the club, Calvin Carpenter, called the meeting to order, and asked for the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting by the club secretary, Lisa Moore.

No old business was brought before the club, but under the heading of new business, plans for National Library Week were finalized by those present. Club members discussed their previously-voted-upon theme for National Library Week, which is "Right Inflation."

Club members Lisa Moore and Stacy Santa Rosa were selected to perform at the district meeting representing the EHS Library Council in the talent competition. Calvin Carpenter was selected to be the club's entry in the costume competition, and will be dressed as "Popeye."

The meeting was adjourned.

Portraits scheduled

By SHERRY WHITE

There is something new in school photography. This spring "Reflection," a captivating portrait package, will supplement the previous school picture program. This will not be an ordinary school picture, but instead, a professional study of the student. It is an image within an image—a feeling that goes deep into the picture, brought about only by artistic and innovative photography.

The "Reflection" package will consist of one 8x10 enlargement and three wallet size photos for $6.

The "Reflection" pictures will be made on April 29, beginning at 8:30 a.m. Any one who has a child of preschool age and wants to have a photograph made, should be at the school by 8:30 a.m.

HISTORY PROJECTS—
Steve Ruggs, Dwayne Chancellor, Jack Rodgers and Donny Hussy are shown with the projects which they recently completed for the ninth grade Alabama history class. The class is under the supervision of Mrs. Patsy Powell. Before the students began working on their projects, they were told the projects had to deal with an idea or event concerning the history of Alabama. They were also told they could obtain ideas of help from parents, grandparents or others. Mrs. Powell graded each project on the basis of time spent on it, originality and construction.

Students take tests to rate competency

By DONNA RUGG

The third, sixth and ninth grades at Zion Chapel have recently completed the Alabama Basic Competency tests to determine the academic progress of the students' competency of skills. Soon, students in grades 2, 4, 5, 7, 8, 10, and 11 will be administered the California Achievement Test. This battery contains tests in reading, spelling, language, and math. These tests will be given in all Coffee County schools.

In several areas of the test Coffee County ranked number one and two statewide for the past two years.

Rebel Editors—Although REBEL 81 has not yet been published, the wheels have already been set into motion to produce REBEL 82. The senior members of the annual staff unanimously elected Steve McCarroll as editor-in-chief of REBEL 82 and chose Judy Helms as business manager. Since the staff has already completed their ad campaign, they are ready to begin drawing up ads for next year's annual. The annual staff also produces the football program and weekly "Rebel News" published in THE ELBA CLIPPER.

Baby boom continues with girl dominance

By VICKIE ELLISON

Two faculty members at Zion Chapel have made their personal contributions to the 1981 baby boom. They have also contributed to the female dominance of the world. Both babies were girls.

Crystal Jeanne Lindsey arrived to bless the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lindsey on March 9. Crystal has brown hair and brown eyes (like her mother). She weighed eight pounds and sevens ounces, and was 21-inches long. Both mother and baby are doing fine. Her father will probably try to make a basketball player out of her. Crystal has an older brother, Bryan, who is very proud of her. Allison Michelle McIntosh was born March 14. She was 19-inches long and weighed six pounds. (Maybe her daddy will let her be a cheerleader.) Allison's proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. Glen McIntosh. She weighs eight pounds and

Home ec class views microwave preparation

By LISA TAYLOR

South Alabama Electric Cooperative representative Mrs. Dot Youngblood demonstrated how to cook with a microwave oven by producing some two-minute fudge and a hot dog dish garnished with mustard and jelly. The demonstrators took place at Zion Chapel home economics classes as part of the unit on cooking.

In addition to explaining how to cook, Mrs. Youngblood gave some safety features to follow when using a microwave.

The aroma in the halls was so heavenly that everyone who smelled it began to think that they would starve to death. The specialized home economics class was finished their cooking unit with an entire meal. The students had been preparing the meal for a week and the time was at hand to enjoy the fruits of their hard labor.

The main course was a chicken dish prepared by rolling chicken breasts in bacon cooked in a mushroom sauce. The rest of the meal was a mixed vegetable casserole with mayonnaise and cheddar cheese, potato salad, green salad, and rolls. Special guests invited to the meal were Douglas Green, Mrs. Melinda Sanders, Denby Lowery, and Mrs. Lela Wilson and they were also served a choice of pecan pie, pound cake, or divan for dessert.

CPA talks taxes with ZC group

Around the corner is the time of year that most U.S. citizens dread the most. It is time for the 1980 income tax returns to be filed.

Mrs. Elsie Hilton's family living class began to prepare for this "awful" time that will visit their adult life once a year with a visit from Mrs. Carol Meben, a certified public accountant from Enterprise. Mrs. Meben prepares income tax returns for individuals and businesses.

Mrs. Meben told the class the importance of the Social Security numbers because it is the taxpayer's identification number. She explained how to fill out various forms including the W2 form on which your income is reported from your employer. Mrs. Meben also explained who is and is not required to file a return, and which forms would be better to file in your tax bracket. She talked about loss and gain, and selling and deducting from items which are sold. According to Mrs. Meben, the person filing, not the person preparing the tax form, is held responsible for the information on the tax return.

Elba Baseballers Win Season Opener, Dump Daleville 6-5

By Ricky Mulaz Sports Editor

I picked up a copy of the Birmingham News one night last week and read a very interesting article on Elba's own Russ Wood, now a member of Alabama's Crimson Tide. Russ was moved into the starting lineup this spring, replacing All-American E.J. Junior, and the article was centered around his ability to fill E.J.'s shoes. Russ felt his major problem was weight (only 215), but said his quickness would make up for it. I'm betting Russ will make everyone in Elba proud of him!

The Elba Athletic Club met last week to discuss the upcoming season and elect officers, but only 4 people showed up, including principal, Lamar Foley. It's easy to find something else to do when you are supposed to attend a meeting; and if you're like me, you simply try to forget. However, the Athletic Club does a great deal for athletics in Elba, and it has played a big part in the recent success of our teams. A lot of work must be done during the summer months to get the football program ready, a job that requires a lot of people putting in a lot of hours. Another meeting will be held soon, and I urge everyone interested in sports at Elba High to attend. Former players, parents, fans and anyone who supports athletics should join the club. Come on folks!

Offers continue to roll in for New Brockton's 6-8 center, Fred Thomas, almost every day. As of last week, Thomas had received scholarship offers from schools in Texas, Indiana State, Cincinnati Technical College (Ohio), Mt. Union Military Academy (Virginia), Hutchinson Jr. College (Kansas) and Nebraska Western Jr. College, just to name a few! The big center can just about write his own ticket, making his future look bright in the world of basketball. By the way, as of Monday, no one from Brockton had signed. We will keep you informed in days to come.

Former Elba High standout Gary Bradshaw is having a good spring at Troy State, and it looks like he has a good shot at earning a starting position with the Trojans. Gary went to Troy State as a walk-on, but quickly earned himself a scholarship, and last season he was in on some big plays. Next fall, remember to go up to Troy and watch Gary play - it is a bright spot in our grid history.

It has been several years since James Smith has played at Elba, but he's still playing football at Alabama State. James had a good career with the Trojans, and last season saw plenty of action with the Trojans, including a TV appearance on ABC. James hasn't been in the spotlight at Alabama State, but I will get to see him play next season and give you a full report.

The life of a walk-on at a major college is tough, and very few people stick it out. However, Elba's Johnny Dye is the exception to the rule. Johnny went to Alabama following his career at Elba with hopes of playing for the Crimson Tide, and despite not having a scholarship, he has stuck it out for three years, and will be with the squad again next year as a senior. Johnny hasn't seen a lot of action, but he is dedicated and has worked as hard as everyone else on the squad. People like this, the unsung heroes, are the backbone of winning teams.

The Major League baseball season opened yesterday with the threat of a strike looming only two weeks away. The players report they will strike if the owners don't drop their plans to change the free agent rule, which has been a money maker for the big leaguers. Ah, there's the problem - money!

I am a baseball fan, but I just can't take sides with the players because of their big salaries. At least 7 players now make $1 million a year, while 30 others make at least $500,000 a year, and the big league ball players are becoming more and more greedy. Don't believe those are exceptions! Last season the average salary of a player went up to $143,756 a year, and this year it is expected to jump another $40,000. Face it folks, the big league ball players are becoming spoiled, and we're going to be the ones who have to pay for it. Go on strike - I'll just watch a fishing show or a golf tournament!

Remember now - the go-kart races are set for Saturday night, and they need your support.

Softball season is just around the corner. The Elba Clippers plans to provide complete coverage of all league games. To provide better coverage of local teams in surrounding tournaments this season, the Clippers will be glad to publicize your team's results. To do so, call 897-2823 on the Monday following the tournament and report all scores and leading batters.

Teams already entered include Nasco, Little Beaver, People's Bank, Hickman Moving and Storage, Hammond's Body Shop, Grimes Oil, Old Reliable, Cash trailers, Work Release, Jaycees, Elba Exchange Bank, Kelley's Packing Company, Carter Brothers, The Heights, I.A.M. and the Hospital.

Men's League

The men's softball league held its final organizational meeting last week, and 15 teams are expected to enter the league. The league will start on Monday, April 27, with games to be played at Legion Field and Mulberry Heights. Any team still wishing to enter must do so by April 10, and must contact Dennis Smith at 897-2333 or 897-6833.

Girls' Softball

Any Girls age 6-15 who wish to play softball are urged to sign up for a girls softball league to be formed this summer. The league will be divided into divisions (by ages) and all-stars will be picked for tournament play. Registration is set for Tuesday, April 14, at the recreation office. To sign up, go to the office between 3:30 - 5:00 p.m., or call 897-6833.

Elba's first loss of the young season came last Friday to Troy 16-3, and the Tigers' record slipped to 1-2 on Monday when they lost to Ashford 9-4.

Elba's 6 Daleville 5 Troy jumped into an 11-0 lead after only three innings and coasted to a 16-3 win over Elba, last Friday in Daleville.

The two teams were deadlocked at 0-0 through three innings, but Elba moved on top 2-0 in the fourth on a 2-run homer by Derrick Boutwell. Daleville battled back to move on top 5-2 going into the last inning and appeared to have the win locked up, but Elba had different plans! Emanuel Magwood led off the seventh and was hit by a pitch, but stole second to move into scoring position. Greg Hudson and Ken Yelverton followed with singles to drive in two runs, and Hudson scored on a passed ball, to tie the score at 5-5. Hardwick then scored in the 8th inning and Elba had the win! Greg Hudson, Ken Yelverton, Derrick Boutwell, Andy Hardwick and Scotty Farmer all had 1 hit apiece for Elba.

Wayne Parker reached on an error to open the inning and moved to second on a single by Andy Hardwick. Greg Hudson singled in Hardwick, and then Scotty Farmer doubled, driving in both base runners! Dennis Smith singled in Farmer and suddenly Elba owned a 4-0 lead over the highly-favored Jacksons.

Ashford cut the lead in half on a 2-run homer in the third, and then used two walks and two errors to plate 3 runs in the fourth inning. Wayne Parker blasted a 2-run homer, and Troy Brown doubled to bring in a 2-run homer, and Troy Brown doubled in Dennis Smith to pace Elba to a 3-run uprising in the fourth inning, but that proved to be all the damage the Tigers could do.
